

Parent Information

How are parents of children with Special Educational Needs involved in the education of their child?

Our school has an open door policy to ensure we are always approachable, so parents feel involved in the education of their child.

In addition our school aims to regularly involve parents in the education of their child through a variety of different ways including:

- Regular meetings with SENCo, class teacher and support staff
- Parental involvement in collating information for requesting an Education Health Care Plan
- Home/school books to inform parents of important information
- Half termly parent booklets to inform parents of what will be going on during the half term
- Homework book
- Home reading logs
- Information on the school website
- Parents' evenings
- Parent workshops
- Parent drop-ins/coffee mornings
- Contact key members of staff via the school office or by email.

- Twitter posts celebrating success
- Signposting to parent groups
- Parents' views on ITP/Annual Review documents

What should a parent of a child with Special Educational Needs need to do if they have a complaint about the school?

How does the governing body deal with the complaint?

We will always attempt to resolve issues amicably, please feel free to speak with any member of the Senior Leadership Team. If you have a formal complaint about the problem please contact Miss Nussey in writing. If this does not resolve the issue to your satisfaction, a letter can be written to the Chair of governors, Mrs Fiona Etheridge. Our school and governing body take complaints seriously. There is a complaints policy which gives further details under the Parent's section of the website.

Which agencies can support and help parents with pupils who have Special Educational Needs?

The Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Information, Advice and Support Service (SENDIASS) exists to provide advice and information to parents and pupils in Birmingham.

This information is designed to explain special educational needs procedures, to help you understand the law and procedures that affect you and your child, and to provide information on other issues that may be useful.
